R. B. Gist Called to Washington on Wheat

TO REPRESENT TEXAS WHEAT PRODUCTION

Only Man From Texas For Gathering of Farmers

HEAD COUNTY GROUP

Will Make New Plans for Wheat Growers of Nation

R. B. Gist has been called to Washington by George E. Farrell upon authority of Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace for a conference on the new wheat set-up for the coming year. Mr. Gist received the invitation Saturday in a telegram telling of his selection to represent the wheat growers of Texas in the conference of representatives from the wheat growing states. He will leave today for the conference.

The selection of Mr. Gist is not only a compliment to his ability as a wheat farmer, but likewise of the efficient work of the Allotment Committee of Randall county, of which Mr. Gist is chairman. It is well known that the work done in Randall county by the wheat committee has received high praise in Washington, and therefore the selection of Mr. Gist which followed this recognition.

It is likely that not more than 15 wheat farmers have been called on this mission to Washington, all of whom have had wide experience in the wheat committees' work. They are selected from those counties which have gained recognition at Washington.

The decision of the conference will have an important bearing upon the new wheat regulations which will be adopted for future wheat regulations. By calling in the actual farmers, it is believed that many of the problems of the past will be made easier in the future work.

Guy Peterson, associate accountant of the Wheat Section, was here this week checking the 1935 compliance papers of the county. He works directly under Mr. Farrell at Washington and was making a trip into the counties which were farthest advanced with their 1935 work. With only a few exceptions, the compliance papers in Randall county are completed.

Scholastic Fund From State Will Be $17.50 in '36

The State Board of Education set the scholastic apportionment for the coming year at $17.50 at its meeting held in Austin Monday. This is an increase of one dollar per scholastic over the past year.

Each school district in the state was forced to economize considerably when the apportionment was reduced from $17.50 in 1929 to $16 in 1930. The apportionment has been $16.50 for the past two years.

Gas Hearing at Austin on Rates

Railroad Commission Is Hearing Local Company

A hearing to determine a proper domestic gate rate for cities served by the West Texas Gas Company began Monday in Austin before Olin Culberson, chief of the gas utilities division of the Railroad Commission.

The company's transmission system, under agreement, was valued at $5,640,609, on a basis of reproduction cost new. The valuation was distributed as follows: Right of way and land, $115,174.34; balance of physical properties, $4,989,507.06; overheads $535,927.60.

The valuation did not include working capital, materials and supplies, nor did it allow for a "going concern" value, which, it was further agreed, the company might favor, or the commission oppose, later.

Edgar G. Hill of New York, an appraisal engineer, as the first witness, testified about an appraisal he had made of the company's properties, including the Red River Gas Company, the producing company for the West Texas Gas Company.

The company serves 42 towns in this section, including Canyon.

Culberson made the following statement yesterday:

"The hearing being conducted is to determine the fair price of gas

Goodnight Trail Is Designated as State Hiway 117

The State Highway Department has designated the Goodnight Trail as a state highway, numbering it 117.

The announcement came from Division Engineer W. J. Van London Thursday afternoon. Mr. Van London had made this request several months ago for this designation owing to the heavy traffic which had developed to the Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Randall county spent considerable money in making possible the Goodnight Trail. Relief labor from Canyon and Amarillo was used in placing the caliche on the road bed. The state let the contracts for both the drainage and for the topping which is now in process of completion. Randall county has been completely relieved of any further expense on the Trail, which news was gratefully received by members of the Commissioners Court.

Gravel is now being hauled for the asphalt topping. The contractors have one of the largest asphalt spreading machines in Texas, and will complete approximately one mile per day when this work is started. It is likely that the topping job will be entirely completed in about three weeks.

First Wheat Comes to Market Saturday

First Wheat Tested 58 And Draws a Premium

Harvest is under way in Randall county and the wheat will amount to considerably more than was anticipated a few weeks ago.

Gus Leseberg brought the first load to Canyon Saturday. It Tested 58 and sold at 74 cents, which was a premium of 5 cents over the market at that time.

Harry Tucek brought in the second load Monday. This likewise tested 58.

A few other loads have arrived during the week, but not enough to indicate how much the wheat will produce.

Hail west of the city damaged some very good wheat two weeks ago, while the hail Tuesday did considerable damage southeast of town.

It was impossible to determine what price would prevail on wheat this season, but there has been a slight decline in price since the opening of harvest in the Southwest.

Canyon Postoffice Included in Bill Pending in House

An appropriation bill was introduced Friday calling for the erection of postoffice buildings in a number of Texas towns. Canyon was included in the list.

A survey was made of the local office several weeks ago, and a favorable report made as to the necessity of a new postoffice building here.

If the present bill passes Congress, the treasury and postoffice department will select those towns which are in most urgent need of building for immediate construction.

CITIZENS IN FAVOR MAKING APPLICATION

OFFICERS TO MEET

Mass Meeting Monday Favors Taking of Steps

Citizens of Randall county endorsed the proposal to erect a hospital in Canyon and directed the City Commission and Commissioners Court to meet with Senator R. A. Stuart when he comes this week in order to make application for the building.

A meeting was held at the court house Monday morning attended by more than 50 citizens. A unanimous vote expressed the sentiment in favor of the hospital. Those who spoke in favor of the project were Dr. J. A. Hill, W. E. Bennett, G. B. Heath, Dr. C. E. Donnell, Dr. R. A. Neblett, G. G. Foster, J. J. Walker, Clyde Warwick, Harvey Cash, C. R. Flesher, W. S. Amend, W. A. Warren, W. J. Wooten, Alfred Bellah, Guy Harp, N. E. McIntire and Oscar Hunt.

No decision was reached as to whether the hospital should be owned and controlled by the College, by the city, the county, or the city-county. The meeting with Senator Stuart will probably point the way as to the best arrangement.

Under the new public works plan, PWA will make a gift of 45% of all projects and make a loan of 55%. This is a much better arrangement than has been made in the past. PWA has urged that all localities interested in funds make application at once. Much of the work formerly done in Washington has been moved to Fort Worth.

In presenting the hospital plan, Dr. Hill stated that it was very necessary that a hospital be secured for the benefit of the stu-

Additional Cottages Approved for Palo Duro at Washington

Supt. Louis Bryan received word yesterday from D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas State Parks Board, that the National Parks Service had approved additional cabins for the Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Mr. Colp is in Washington, and has with him a large number of plans for the Palo Duro projects. Requests have been filed on 17 projects for the Palo Duro, many of which will be acted upon this week.

The end of the fiscal year of the government has caused delay in approval of all government work, but beginning the first of July, it is anticipated that quicker action will be had upon all park projects.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Poison Sprayed on Trees Along County Hiways

Due to damage we are experiencing on trees planted on the roadside from insects, we find it necessary to spray these trees with an effective insecticide, which is arsenate of lead.

We have hesitated to use a very strong poison due to the fact that cattle are often on the highway, but since we have a stock law we are using this method of controlling the insects and protecting our trees.

We are giving you this information in order that you can publish same, and parties interested can take necessary steps to prevent their cattle coming in contact with this poison.

The first application of this poison was made June 22nd, and subsequent applications will be made as needed.

Division Engineer.

Many newspaper paragraphers are having their fun with the brain trusters in a big way since the supreme court has killed so many New Deal projects. The blame is laid at the door of theorists, university professors in particular. President Roosevelt is pretty much of a constitutional lawyer himself. No doubt he knew many of his policies were overstepping the constitution, but he likewise realized that something drastic must be done regardless of the constitution. That is the reason that constitutional lawyers in congress raised no objections. They had no ideas of their own, so were willing to give the President a free hand. No practical politician would have attempted the policies of the so-called brain trust. The politician must be sure of his ground before he steps. It took a brave leadership, and a body of political theoriests to attempt the New Deal program. That much of it went on the rocks in the NRA decision is no criticism of the purpose of the President and his advisers. The nation was carried through a most perilous time when untroden paths must be taken. A return to constitutional government is welcomed by all real Americans.

State rights is a fine thing for the Democrats to discuss, as the subject makes stirring oratorical material and will always bring a loud applause. But as a matter of fact, centralizing powers in the hands of the federal government has become necessary in most phases of government service because of the break down in local government. There are many phases of government of which our people are completely incapicated to handle from a local stand point. Likewise, there are many services of centralized government which could be more economically handled if left in the hands of the people at home. The great dangers attending centralized government is the fact that so much authority has to be delegated to little individuals who swell up with their self importance, especially as employes of the federal government. As a fundamental principle, state rights is practically dead, regardless what you may think about it.

Designating the Goodnight Trail from Canyon to the Palo Duro State Park takes care of Randall county's state highways. Under the new set-up for work relief, very little work will be allowed on the state system. It was very fortunate for Randall county that the Goodnight Trail was completed before the new policy was adopted. Widening Fourth Avenue through Canyon, with an underpass west of town may be possible under the new plan which calls largely for hand labor. Again this county may not profit from the new set-up if materials are required to be furnished by local authorities. This county was fortunate in its highway program in having started at the right time.

We used to believe that it was right and proper for the government to tax any citizen in proportion to his ability to pay during his life, but should allow him to die in peace. After watching the antics of heirs of the extremely wealthy, we are about to join the forces of those who would practically tax out of existence the large fortunes when the owner dies. Most rich sons and daughters succeed in making supreme fools of themselves. If they possessed half the brains of their sires, they would not need the extremely large fortunes, most of which go to experimental marriages with foreign dukes, lords and princes.

President Roosevelt has submitted his tax measure to Congress. Maybe it was for the purpose of getting congress to adjourn and go home. Tax bills are never very popular with Congress, especially those who face a hot contest for re-election. However, the recovery program must be financed, and it will take real money to pay the bill. Business men would feel better about the future if the bill was passed at this session of congress rather than allowed to hold over until next session. Most people prefer having the dentist pull the sore tooth without hesitation than to discuss the question at length.

Babe Ruth has been somewhat criticised in his action of walking out on baseball. Personally we believe he did the right thing. The Babe realized last season that his days were numbered. He realized it more fully when this season started. It is not graceful to quit the job in which one has been a national hero. That is the role every actor on the stage of life must face. It is the wise person who knows when to quit. Most individuals prefer to be thrown out rather than back out gracefully.

Those who continually are looking for "cheap" items are often from the class of citizens who are hurt the most by the presence of these "cheap" articles. Cheap articles usually stand for the sweat shop, unfair treatment of labor, inferior materials, breakdown in price structure, long hours in both manufacture and retail, a policy of "anything goes," just so the public is fooled. Those who patronize such houses are encouraging such unfair and un-American practices.

We used to hear the statement, "Leave it to the Democrats to make fools of themselves at the psychological moment." Right now the strike among the Democrats is causing nation wide discussion and charges that the power of Roosevelt with his party is rapidly failing. The racket of a small group of disgruntled Young Democrats at Dallas is gaining nation wide publicity as a slap at the administration. This group is deserving of a trip to the wood shed.

Now that Randall county has all of its primary highways paved, it is time to consider lateral roads. Much of the trade which should come to Canyon would be over the lateral roads. If there is any way we can secure hard-surfaced or improved lateral roads, these would greatly improve the facilities of our farmers.

Tahoka News: Some theorists seem to think that this Government could issue money in unlimited quantities and still maintain the present value of the dollar. If Tom Waggoner's theories were put into execution we would soon have a worthless dollar and a "blowed-up" country, and Tom Waggoner would be a wiser though not a happier man.

It would seem from the above statement that Tom is not so terribly convincing in his arguments that the United States government should go ahead and print more money. Editor E. I. Hill seems to be just as ignorant of money problems as the Canyon News. Both of us will have to check these weighty problems to the Claude News man who is so well versed in the complex theories of running the government. However, we shall sleep better at night, knowing that we have on our side, the President of the United States; the leading Senators and Congressmen who have studied this money question at a close range rather than from a theoretical standpoint; that every nation which has gone into the business of printing currency has found its currency worthless; and that the leading students of finance in this nation are determined that this nation will not be so foolish. Tom's arguments appear perfectly sound to himself, but he does not have the record of sound finances to back these wild statements.

The nation has accepted with a sigh of relief the recent supreme court decisions. After all, this nation believes fundamentally in constitutional government. It was willing to accept any sort of government and any sort of laws during a period of unprecedented depression, but once the nation starts on the upgrade, the people want the old form of sound government. So long as they feel this way, there is little or no danger of a revolution in this nation.

It was rather surprising to the Centennial forces when Congress appropriated $3,000,000 for the celebration next year. Those in charge of the bill were ready to accept half this amount. It was noted that Tom Blanton, watchdog of the treasury, was absent when the vote was taken. The federal appropriation of such an amount means an enlarged celebration at Dallas next year, one in which all Texas will rejoice.

A birth certificate will be absolutely necessary in future years for those who seek to benefit from the old age pension. Those of the present generation will likely be exempted from this provision owing to the fact that birth registration was not uniformly practiced a few years ago. But there is no excuse now for failing to have children registered at birth.

Col. Ernest Thompson, chairman of the Railroad Commission, announces that he will be a candidate for re-election next year. He indicates he is not thinking about the Governor's office, even if Governor Allred should announce against Senator Sheppard. However, this is June 1935, and election is a year away. The Colonel could change his mind.

Attorney General William McCraw has announced for re-election next year. He has been considered a most likely candidate for Governor when Allred retires. The announcement is interpreted as a certainty that Governor Allred would be a candidate to succeed himself rather than run for the senate against Morris Sheppard.

The Palo Duro State Park has not been in existence quite two years, yet it is the popular play ground of Northwest Texas. Its popularity will increase week by week and month by month as the people really find what a wonderful picnicking place is opened for their enjoyment.

The State highway patrolmen are checking brakes over the state. It is a fine thing when auto owners will not take the time to keep their cars in good repair that the state steps in and compells the owners to do this as a matter of public safety.

And now Huey says, "My Friend, the President." However, he tied so many strings to his profession of faith that the President will probably tell the Kingfish to go and jump in the Gulf.

A doctor was attending a dangerous case, where a Scottish butler was engaged. On calling one forenoon he said to Donald:

"I hope your master's temperature is much lower today than it was last night."

"I'm not sae very sure about that," replied the butler, "for he deed this morning."

The south entrance of the administration building was the scene of the reception. The receiving line, composed of the administrative staff and their wives, stood at the west end of the front walk, and the members of the various groups of the different departments were arranged in units on the carpet-like grass east of the steps. Students, after passing down the receiving line, went through the other groups of departments until they reached and were served by the department in which they are majoring.

The informality of the reception was delightful, and the grounds, darkened by the lengthening shadows of the setting sun, presented a setting of rare beauty.

In the Swim—Now and Then

"On the Beach, Yesterday and Today," might be the title of these pictures. Demure Zasu Pitts, left, swathed in the wardrobe that passed as a bathing suit 40 years ago, is ready for her plunge into the briny deep. If those were the "gay '90's," then these must be the "hysterical '30's," as witness the brief, daring rubber suit of today, displayed by charming Ann Sheridan, film player.

On his birthday, young Holt became eligible to take his seat as a Democrat in the U. S. Senate. Miss Holt will be the capital's youngest hostess.

Women of County Gather Monday to Hear A&M Worker

Fifty farm women of Randall county and Miss Allie Dozier, home agent, attended the lecture at the court house Monday morning by Miss Grace Neely of College Station, assistant state nutrition specialist.

She told of the value of the quality pack of foods to the nutrition of the family.

"Many of you use this system for the canning of foods to be used in shows and contests, and neglect the need of the family for the same foods," she said.

"For example, green beans are higher in food value when they are youngest, tenderest and greenest—before the beans have formed in the pod. If they are canned at this time, they can be used as a substitute for leafy vegetables."

She had as a demonstration several cans packed at College Station, including beans, tomatoes, carrots, beets, pickles, peaches, pears, plums, cherries and blackberries.

Miss Neely stated further, "A wise woman never tells her family everything she does in preparing their food that is nutritive and healthful. In order to economize she must can her own foods and learn to disguise them in the preparation of many attractive dishes." Many helpful suggestions and illustrations were given to stress this point.

Miss Neely has been visiting the eight counties in the Panhandle where the farm food products project is being carried out.

She was accompanied by Miss Ruby Mashburn, district home demonstration agent, Miss Mary Sitton, Potter County home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Bob Johnson of Potter County, who will supervise the canning plant that will be opened soon in Amarillo.

Wise County Exes Inspect Park Saturday 400 Strong

Former citizens of Wise county gathered Saturday at the Palo Duro to inspect the improvements which are under way at the Park, and to spend the day visiting.

Sam Bellah of Canyon was the oldest citizen present and greatly enjoyed the day with former friends.

Clyde Warwick, chairman of the newly created park board, welcomed the visitors and explained the work which was in progress. The Palo Duro is the second largest state park in Texas. The National Park Service has spent more than $800,000 in preserving the scenery, and to make it accessible to the people of this section. The program will continue for several years in order that the four million people living within a day's drive of the Park may have a real picnicking center.

Louis Bryan, superintendent, predicted a much larger park in area than the present 15,500 acres, and much greater development in the plans for making the park useful to the citizens. He highly praised the CCC work which was being used.

Bob Underwood of Amarillo highly entertained the gathering with a humorous talk.

CITY BANS HANDBILLS

Clay Center, Kansas is the latest city to join that ever increasing list of enterprising and progressive American cities that ban, by city ordinance, the distribution of handbills and such cheap forms of advertising. Clay Center places a fine of from $5.00 to $50.00 on all violaters of the law.

While we are in the business of printing handbills, etc., yet from the viewpoint of a newspaper interested in the cleanliness of our home town, we would gladly welcome such an ordinance here in Canyon. In the first place, the advertiser gets a very small return for money invested in handbill advertising, a small percent of bills distributed ever being read. The greater part of them are turned loose to be blown over the streets, alleys, and lawns, cluttering up in unsightly piles, creating a public nuisance. This "cheapest" of all forms of advertising is in reality the most expensive insofar as actual returns.

The handbill finds its most popular customer in the foreign owned chain stores who are little interested in the civic upbuilding of the community on which they have fastened their greedy, parasitic clutches, their only purpose to take profits out of the community with never a thought as to what they can do for the betterment of the town and city in which they operate.

Teague Named Freshman Coach

Lettered Three Years On W. T. Football Squad

Cagle Teague, fullback on the '34 football team, has been chosen freshman coach by Pres. J. A. Hill, according to announcement made by Coach Al Baggett, Saturday.

Mr. Teague will do graduate work and coach freshman football.

He is a graduate of Childress High School, and lettered three years on the W. T. varsity football squad. He played guard during the seasons of 1932 and 1933, but was shifted to the backfield last season. He was named all-T. I. A. A. guard in 1932.

He was awarded a loving cup for being the most valuable man on the squad last year.

Mr. Teague should prove particularly well qualified for freshman coach having seen service both in the line and backfield, and he has played two years under Coach Baggett which should qualify him to teach the Baggett style of play.

Coach Baggett said he was pleased that he could use one of his players as an assistant in the physical education department. He said he intended to follow the policy of picking one outstanding man each year to do graduate work and serve as freshman mentor.

Mr. Teague has already begun his work here.

$5,000 Will Be Spent For W. T. Library Books

A $5,000 fund has been placed at the disposal of the College library by Pres. J. A. Hill and the administration for the purchase of books during the fiscal year 1935-1936.

This amount, an increase over the usual amount spent by the library each year, marks the first move of the administration toward emphasizing the library program during the coming year.

The money will be pro-rated among the departments, the needs of each department being attended to by the head of that division. Additions will be made to both book and periodical lists throughout the year.

The resumption of graduate study by the College in September will make necessary a more extensive research laboratory and an increased number of periodicals.

"Emphasis is to be laid upon making our library one of the best in the state," said Pres. Hill yesterday. "As we have led the teachers colleges in giving master's degrees, we want to lead in the matter of library facilities for both graduate and undergraduate students."

Baggett Will Go To Columbia U. During Summer

Coach Al Baggett will attend the summer session of Columbia University, New York, beginning July 8th.

Mr. Baggett is working on his master's degree and will study in his major field, physical education.

Coach Baggett received his B. A. degree from Ouachita Baptist College at Arkadelphia, Ark., and has since attended summer sessions at Columbia University, University of Southern California, Michigan University, and Wisconsin University.

He has also attended fifteen coaching schools during the last ten years. Some of them conducted by such coaches as Knute Rockne, "Pop" Warner, Howard Jones, Harry Kipki, Fritz Crisler, and "Doc" Speer.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

Effective July 1, 1935

In order to partially take care of the general expense of handling checking accounts occasioned by furnishing checks, entering credits, making charges through the books and ledgers, writing up monthly statements, cancelling and filing checks; and especially when a number of check entries are made, it will be necessary to make a small service charge on a monthly basis in order to absorb a small portion of this expense.

Following is a schedule showing the basis on which a small service charge will be computed on checking accounts:

Accounts averaging less than $50.00—50c per month —5 checks allowed.

Accounts:
$ 50.00 to $100.00— 5 checks allowed;
$100.00 to $200.00—10 checks allowed;
$200.00 to $300.00—20 checks allowed;
$300.00 to $400.00—30 checks allowed;
$400.00 to $500.00—40 checks allowed;

Checks in excess of the number allowed, as per above schedule, 3c each.

Accounts averaging $1,000.00 or more are subject to cost analysis to determine if any charge is made.

A charge of 3c each will be made on all out of town checks handled as cash items and based upon the above schedule; and a charge of 25c per hundred will be made on out of town items sent separately as collection items to be credited when paid, with a minimum charge of 15c.

In making the small service charge in line with the above schedule, we trust that our customers will understand that it is always our aim to render a satisfactory banking service, and at the same time keep the expense of such service down to where it will not be objectionable.

Agricultural Adjustment Act

Highlights in speech of Hon. Marvin Jones on the A. A. A. Amendments in the House of Representatives, June 17, 1935.

Living thousands of miles apart, producing an infinite variety of crops in widely separated areas, the farmer has been hedged about by organized groups on every side. Had there been no legislation in behalf of these groups, had there been no regulations of commerce, had there been no trade barriers and no monopolies, the farmer would have needed no legislation. I subscribe to the doctrine here and now that we ought to have a tariff for all or a tariff for none. Standing on a dead level with every other citizen, the farmer could have fought his own battles, protected his own interests, and carved his own niche in the affairs of our common country.

Just as the human body cannot properly function with a portion of it paralyzed, our economic structure is subject to the same inexorable rules. It became necessary to restore the purchasing power of the farmer if our Nation was to live and prosper.

We grow used to certain things and they seem commonplace. A new practice causes comment. It is interesting to hear business men criticise the farmers for adjusting their production when they themselves have been practicing the same thing for years and take it for granted.

Through depression years, industry in the main reduced its volume and largely maintained its prices. Agriculture largely maintained its volume and its prices were greatly reduced. The whole philosophy of the agricultural adjustment program is to apply business principles to agriculture.

The reduction program was an adjustmenet, a deck-clearing proposition. We are now moving into the long-range program, not to abandon it, but to improve it.

We all recognize the importance of world trade. Of course, other countries will have to recover before they can purchase our commodities in large quantities. Much of their trade during the period from 1925 to 1929 was carried on with the money that was borrowed from us. It is not of very great value if you have to furnish the money to the man who buys your commodity, but as we get out of the mist of this thing, of course, our world trade must be increased.

When a man grows a bale of cotton or a bushel of wheat, harvesting one in the hot July sun and picking the other under a blazing September sky, and carries them to market, he has a right as an American citizen to the same market conditions as any other man, and until somebody can show us a better plan I say let us ride on this train.

I believe in the agricultural program. I believe in its purposes. I believe that it is in the interest of the future of America. I do not take any stock in what certain people say who are afraid our Government is going to fall or something is going wrong. I believe in the United States Government, her history, her institutions and her purposes. Knowing the glory of her past, I believe in her future. There is too much stamina, too much character, too much industry in the background of the American people to have our country destroyed in a few years. The point is that we must keep our heads above water and keep right on working. It does no good to stand on the side lines and howl. We must get together, consult with one another, and work toward a program that will be fair to every citizen in this land.

Golden, Bullock, Hill to Address Education Meet

Dr. J. A. Hill, president of W. T. S. T. C., J. B. Golden, and A. A. Bullock will address the twelfth annual County Superintendents Conference, which is to meet at College Station, from July 29 to August 2.

Mr. Golden, superintendent of schools in Wichita County, graduated from W. T. with the class of 1930.

Mr. Bullock, of the State Department of Education, attended school here in the summer of 1917.

DR. ANGIE DEBO GOES TO NACOGDOCHES TO TEACH

Dr Angie Debo, a former member of the W. T. history department, is teaching in the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College at Nacogdoches this summer.

Miss Debo, who received her doctor's degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1934, is the author of a book on Indian life and is now working on another. She has spent the winter in Norman, Okla., doing research.

As 'Pioneers' Broke Soil in Alaska

A TRIBUTE

Lord Byron once said, "Heaven gives its favorites early death." Surely this was true when our young friend Jack Burnett passed on the thirteenth of June.

Jack was only nineteen years of age, standing on the threshold of life, looking forward to years of activity and service. He was a young man of purest motives, most laudable ambitions and commendable habits. His influence was always for good and those who had the privilege of knowing him could but admire his manly courage and devotion to his ideals and to his God.

Jack had worked hard to graduate from high school, and in his college carreer was striving with equal earnestness and determination to equip himself to serve his fellowman. This friend of ours was devoted to his home, his friends, and his parents, he in turn was loved and admired and esteemed by those who knew him. Yes, Jack has gone on, but in spite of the pain of separation and the deep sense of earthly loss, there has entered into our hears some strange exaltation of spirit as if we were preceiving in some sense that the last enemy—Death—has been overcome. A Revelation of Reality has touched us, so that the grave hath lost its victory, and death its sting. Is it not written that "Christ abolished death?" And that He "brought Life and Immortality to Light?" Some measure of this insight is afforded us, so that we are actually able to know that "there is no death" and to rejoice that the door to immortality has swung wide for Jack and that his dream of "service" is being realized.

PRESBYTERIAN PICNIC

One hundred fifty members of the Sunday School and Presbyterian Church attended a picnic at Wragge Park last Friday afternoon. Baseball, washer pitching, gossip and fly shooting took up part of the time—but most of the time was spent in eating.

The proverbial good time was had by all. Thus we complete this tale, with promises of a bigger and better picnic next year.

The New Yorker gives the following new description of a so-called "reactionary":

"A reactionary is one who keeps his eyes fixed on the glorious past and backs into the future."

A truth is an idea that has been put to practical test and not found wanting.

Alike as Two FDR's

President Roosevelt in two poses? No, it's the president and a man who looks enough like him to be a twin. A bootblack told Robert Middlemass, Hollywood actor, that if he put on glasses and carried a cane everyone would tip his hat to him. So he tried it, with the result shown below.

Graduate School Aids Hill's Plans For Expansion

Courses leading to a Master's degree to be offered next fall will be the first steps toward the realization of the new curriculum plan which was offered to the Board of Regents by Dr. J. A. Hill, last week.

"This is an essential step for the institution," said Dr. Hill, "because the educational development of the territory has reached such a point that the teachers colleges had to advance to keep pace."

Dr. Hill said that the Board of Regents, who met at Galveston, felt that this action was a red letter day for the teachers colleges of Texas.

He pointed out that an effort would be made to make the work of such quality and type as to guarantee successful teaching ability.

Dr. Hill said that the plan would be developed gradually.

4-H CLUB ACTICITIES

An uncomfortable bed and a dingy looking room wers made comfortable and bright by Evelyn Bauer, bedroom demonstrator of Johnson 4-H club, by the addition of a new mattress, made at home; a mattress pad, mattress protector, spring cover, pillow protectors and slips.

The bed was cleaned and painted. The dresser, chairs, washstand and table were also painted.

The bare walls were canvassed and papered with a paper that had an ivory background, with pink and blue flowers. The woodwork was painted ivory. A filler was put on the floor, then enameled a light oak.

A convenient clothes closet was built of veneer board. It contained one long shelf at the top, nine smaller shelves, a drawer for soiled clothes, and a rod for hangers. The closet cost $7.00.

Shades, curtains, a bedspread, sheets and other linens were added.

An old discarded dresser was made into an attractive dressing table, by Leona Sharpes, bedroom demonstrator of Fairview 4-H club. The old dresser had three drawers, the bottom drawer was discarded and the frame work cut out the shape of a dressing table. Two legs were added in front and the drawers finished up just like other dressing tables. Then the piece of furniture was painted ivory and rose to carry out the color scheme of her room. A nail keg covered with cretonne that blended with the wall paper was used for a stool for the dressing table.

When an individual offers to sell you something, whether goods or services for nothing, the prospects is that you will pay heavily.

Drive far—drive fast —without a worry!

With Conoco Germ Processed Oil in your crankcase, you KNOW the strain won't hurt your motor!

Tests prove this new alloyed oil has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than plain mineral oils and resists heat better!

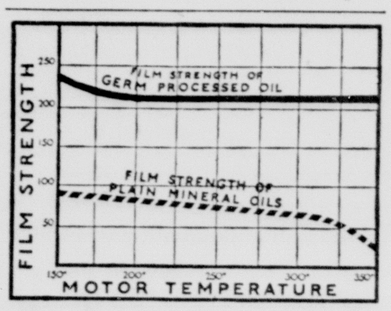
On July 4th or week-end and vacation trips, you'll want to drive far and get there in a hurry. And you don't want that nagging worry of "I wonder if this speed and heat will hurt anything in my motor."

You can't always be sure when you use plain mineral oils, for they have little film strength and oils over-refined by new cleansing processes have even less. Moreover, as motor heat goes up, these oils rapidly lose film strength.

Film strength is the load-carrying ability of an oil, the quality that keeps bearings and cylinders from wearing out. Lack of film strength results in costly damage.

You can drive without a worry when you use Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil! It has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil. Heat does not lessen this advantage.*

Supervised road tests—over good and bad roads, at low and high speeds, in all kinds of weather—give practical proof that Germ Processed Oil protects motors better. In every test, gravimetric measurement of motor bearings showed that Germ Processed Oil prevented wear far better than plain mineral oils. Tested in a fleet of cars equipped with the new alloy-metal bearings used in many 1935 cars, a high-quality plain mineral oil permitted 45% more wear on connecting rod bearings than did Germ Processed Oil.



CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL
PLAIN MINERAL OILS

HERE'S THE PROOF

Note that as heat increases, the plain mineral oils continue to lose film strength, but that above 225° (Minimum Summer crankcase temperature) Germ Processed oil's film strength is not affected by heat. Tests made with Timken machine.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the first alloyed oil—alloyed, much as metals are, by adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil. It is the only oil made by the Germ Process. It is the oil with the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away!

Say "O. K.—Drain"—fill with Germ Processed Oil. Drive far—drive fast—without a worry!

at the city limits in order that any city desiring to fix the price of gas sold within the city limits might already have this information. The railroad commission has exclusive jurisdiction over the rates to be charged by pipe lines for transporting gas to the city gates and cities of 2,000 population for the exclusive right to fix the rate to be charged within their city limits, and it is for the purpose of being helpful to cities that this hearing is being held.

"It will continue for probably a week longer and cities are cordially invited to come and sit in and offer anything that will assist in establishing what is a fair price for gas up to your city limits."

J. D. Thompson of Amarillo, a geologist, testified concerning gas reserves of the company of the Red River Gas Company, from which gas is purchased. Thompson estimated the company's Panhandle field reserve at two and one half to three years, and that of the Red River Company at 17 years.

New Officers Take Rotary Work; New Buildings Discussed

President Bob Jarrett closed his work as president of the Canyon Rotary Club Tuesday and was thanked by the club for his efficient services during the past year. Three accomplishments of the past year were pointed out by Mr. Jarrett. Maintaining the membership, a good attendance and the finances in good shape. Vice President Harry Brown will preside during the absence of President Irby Carruth through the summer. Other officers inducted Tuesday were: Lee Johnson, secretary; directors, Bob Jarrett, Walter Upchurch, Bob Foster and Clyde Warwick, the latter being named to succeed Pete Pearson.

Joe Hill was called upon to discuss new PWA buildings on the college campus. The new $47,000 dormitory for men is under construction. It has some distinct features in the way of dormitory construction. Two boys living together will have two rooms, and each four boys will have a bath room. This building will attract boys who wish better rooming facilities.

Three projects are awaiting the completion of plans of the architects, which should be completed during the coming week; addition to Cousins Hall, the Home Economics cottage, and 10 cottages which will accommodate six persons each.

The athletic project while approved by PWA, is delayed by the lack of plans, but these should be finished before many weeks.

Application will be made this week for a library building. Mr. Hill believes that red tape has been cut sufficiently so that this plan will be under way quicker than the other five projects.

Clyde Warwick discussed the proposed hospital. While information was not available to make definite statements regarding this project, the speaker had reached the conclusion that the only sure method of securing the hospital would be by voting city bonds. It is very necessary to have a hospital on account of the student body. A hospital fee of approximately $2,000 annually would assist materially in defraying the expenses of a hospital until it could get well established.

Phil Purdum of Amarillo was the only visitor of the club.

Rain Tuesday With Heavy Hail East of City Doing Damage

Rain Tuesday afternoon amounted to .20 of an inch in Canyon. It did not reach far to the west, but east of Canyon it was almost a water spout. A heavy hail at the Fred Marshall place wiped out his crop.

The rain east of Canyon amounted to 3 or 4 inches. In the Palo Duro Park water went over the Timber Creek bridge. The rain extended to the south and east of the Park.

dent body. A hospital fee would be added which would insure an income of $2,000 or more to the hospital.

Plans for a hospital were drawn last year and presented to PWA by the city of Canyon. The fund requested at that time was $50,000 which was sufficient for a 20-bed wholly equipped hospital. If this sum would be sufficient at this time, the government would make a gift of $22,500, and loan the balance of $27,500 at four per cent interest.

It is expected that steps will be taken following the meeting of the officials this week to start a plan toward securing the hospital in one of the methods outlined above.

Father Dolje

chaplains and deacons of honor to Most Rev. Robert E. Lucey, D. D., bishop of Amarillo.

His Excellency, Archbishop R. E. Gerken of Santa Fe had for chaplains and deacons of honor, Right Rev. Monsignor R. N. Nolan of Fort Worth and Righ Rev. Monsignor V. Graffeo of Corsicana.

Very Rev. Joseph Wonderly, V. F. of Pampa and Very Rev. John A. Steinlage, rector of Price Memorial College, were chaplains to Most Rev. J. P. Lynch, Bishop of Dallas.

Most Rev. R. A. Gerken, present Archbishop of Santa Fe, formerly of Amarillo, preached the sermon.

The service was followed by a banquet at Price Memorial College at 1 o'clock, Most Rev. J. P. Lynch acted as toastmaster.

Toasts to the Holy Father, Pius XI, were given by Bishop Lucey; of the Province by Monsignor Graffeo; of the Diocese of Amarillo by Father Robinson; to the Jubilarian by Monsignor Nolan of Fort Worth, at the completion of which a response was made by Father Dolje himself.

Rev. John James Dolje was born in the village of Settard in the Netherlands in 1861. After attending the "common" school in the village he entered the commercial department of the Jesuit College of St. Aloysius at Settard in 1873, completing his course in 1877. He then completed an academic course in the same school in 1880.

Having completed his training in Philosophy at St. Trond in Belgium in 1882, he entered the American College at Louvain. He received his Degree of Licentiate of Sacred Theology in 1885.

He was ordained to the priesthood on June 28 by Most Rev. Bishop E. Junger, of Nesqually, Oregon, who was then visiting at Louvain. He celebrated his first Mass in his native village on June 29.

At Santa Fe in 1885

In August, 1885, he arrived at Santa Fe, N. M. He was assigned to work under Bishop Bougaard, then viar-Apostolic of Tuscon, Ariz.

His preliminary training period was brief. Need of clergymen forced Bishop Bourgaard to make Father Dolje pastor of the parish at Tombstone, which included all Southeastern Arizona and Fort Huachuca and Apache.

He arrived at Tombstone during the Geronimo—chief of the Apaches war. Father Dolje attended many an unfortunate person who had lost his scalp to an Apache tomahawk. He visited the Indians imprisoned in the stocks at Fort Apache. He also talked with Geronimo after his capture in the Dragoon Mountains.

Spies Indians

From Tombstone to Wilcox, the young missionary traveled 84 miles by pack horse through the Dragoon Mountains. Darkness usually forced him to roll up in his blanket for a night of restless sleep frequently interrupted by the howling of coyotes.

A student, Mike Hennesey, accompanied the Padre on one of these trips to Wilcox. In an arroyo on the Dragoon Ridge, Hennessey spied an Indian trotting towards them. He excitedly raised his gun to fire but Father Dolje thrust the weapon aside, knowing that he and his companion had small chance to shoot it out for they had been spotted for many miles. Instead, Father related, they whipped their ponies and reached the plain in safety. After riding a short distance they came upon a company of United States soldiers from Fort Apache at rest for the night. The sentinel had fallen asleep and failed to awaken at their approach. Hennessey's story of the Indian caused much excitement and the Padre's teasing remarks evoked much laughter.

Has Wild Ride

A miner hurt at Bisbee, a Tombstone mission isolated in the mountains 30 miles away, sent his brother to bring the priest. Earlier in the evening the brother had attended an "Irish Wake" and drank too much of the spirit of "John Barleycorn." The Padre started out into the night, guided only by a lantern which the brother persisted in holding at his face. Blinded by the glare, he lost control of the horses. The buggy and passengers were plunged into a ravine. Falling, the brother lost his gun beneath the horses' feet. With the aid of a passer-by the buggy was righted and pistol recovered. Accomplishing the descent of the mountain in a buggy without a brake, at night proved exciting if not perilous. A warning from the priest to his companion that the end was not far off sobered him.

The injured man was on the other side of the gulch in a bunkhouse just past the smelter. The travelers again missed the road, running upon a heap of slack at the smelter which caused the horses to stop dead at the steep end of the heap. Before they arrived at the dying man's side he passed away and was buried the following afternoon.

Is Seriously Ill

In May, 1888, Father Dolje became seriously ill with an inflamation of the liver, but an operation at St. Joseph's Hospital, by Dr. Handley, an army physician, of the fort at Yuma, performed against the advice of six consulting doctors, saved his life.

When he had recovered sufficiently, Bishop Bourgaard sent him to Silver City, N. M., to rest. In a few months, the pastor there was made Vicar General, the Bishops' assistant, and Father Dolje was left in charge of the parish, San Vicente and the Convent of the Sisters of Mercy.

Has Helper

In 1890, Father Dolje was transferred to Prescott, then the capitol of the Arizona territory, with an assistant, Father Quetu. His arrival with the bishop at Prescott was greeted with a severe thunderstorm. In order to avoid becoming drenched they had to raise their umbrellas within the church, such was the condition of the building.

Two priests at one place was considered outrageous at that time but Bishop Bourgaard knew better. The parish extended from the Needles on the Colorado River to Gallup on the east and south to the place where Phoenix is now located. Traveling day and night both clergymen could not serve the many stations entrusted to them.

To facilitate matters, the missions were divided, Father Quetu taking the mining camps and Rev. Dolje, Flagstaff and the territory along the railroad from the California line on the west to the New Mexico line on the east.

The missioner's first residence at Flagstaff was a shed originally built to store building materials. He lined the outside with tin to stave off the severe attacks of winter. At times during the first winter, he was snowbound and could not get to town for three or four days at a time. While in this territory Rev. Dolje built the first church at Winslow which still stands.

Mires in Quicksand

While on these missions he had his first encounter with quicksand. He received a call to attend a person who lived across what was erroneously called the Pecos River in which there was never more than an inch or two of water. He started across in his buggy and when he reached the middle noticed that the horses, sinking gradually, were making little headway. He climbed out on the shaft unhitched the buggy and brought the horses safely to the other side. Standing a moment he watched his buggy sink from sight.

Comes to Texas

The Chicago World's Fair and an old schoolmate provided the occasion of his coming to Texas. Father E. J. Dunne was bishop-elect of Dallas and things were not very rosy at the time in the new diocese. Before he left Chicago, Father Dolje joined the Texas Diocese, his first assignment being the missions of Abilene. Soon after followed Waxahachie, Hillsboro and the coal mines at Thurber as "seven years in hell." A general strike broke up the mines and the population abandoned the place, a move which Father Dolje did not regret.

In 1906, he was assigned to Corsicana where he built a new residence. Soon the oil wells went dry and the Sisters of St. Mary abandoned the school there because of lack of funds.

To Wichita Falls

He was then assigned as first resident priest at Wichita Falls. After seven years at Wichita Falls Father Dolje went to New Subiaco, Arkansas, and taught school for one year, which he termed as a rest.

Upon his return to Dallas the following year, he was sent to North Fort Worth to assist Father Malone, who was very ill at the time.

Father Dolje's next change was to Umbarger where he arrived on July 20, 1916. He had to go to Father Dunne, then pastor of the Sacred Heart Church in Amarillo to find out where Umbarger was located.

He has built a new church and rectory there, the nave and furnishings of which are designed in the spirit of the Romanesque, coupled with the simplicity of the early missions which he learned to love so well through the years of patient toil.
